YOUR FOOD SCRAPS CAN BE A VALUABLE RESOURCE!

Food scraps are full of valuable nutrients, nitrogen, and carbon. They can be made into compost, then used to feed soil that in turn grows more plants and vegetables.

On average each Aucklander sends about 160kg of rubbish to landfill every year.

- Of this, 65% can be avoided or put to better use.
- Up to 45% of rubbish is food scraps.

Collecting and composting food scraps means less rubbish goes to landfill.

Please compost your food scraps wherever possible.

HAURAKI GULF ISLAND WASTE SERVICES

There are limited waste services on the islands within the Hauraki Gulf.

We encourage all boaties and visitors to reduce the amount of waste they bring to the islands by planning ahead, removing items from packaging before visiting, and making use of reusable containers, drink bottles and coffee cups wherever possible.

Please minimise your waste.

However, if you must dispose of any waste, see inside for further useful information.
